

For Immediate Release
August 11, 2012
Contact: Roxanne Amidon
614-226-8744 / info@sustainabledelawareohio.org
Sustainable Delaware

Second 'Delaware Local Menu' event grows

The group "Sustainable Delaware" is has attracted several area restaurants for Delaware County's second annual "Delaware Local Menu" event scheduled for August 10 – 19, in conjunction with the Columbus Farm to Fork event.

The event is part of a nationwide trend toward growing, serving, selling and promoting local foods, according to volunteer Roxanne Amidon. "Area restaurateurs enthusiastically endorse the local movement, have incorporated Ohio-based products in their menus, and continually seek new menu additions."

"This year participation has grown among area restaurants. Not only the number of restaurants serving Ohio-based products, but restaurant owners report that they are attracting new customers from out of town because they are using locally grown products. "

A sampling of products includes:

- 🍽️ Chandra's Bistro – Zucchini Pancake Appetizers
- 🍽️ J. Gumbo's – Velvet Ice Cream
- 🍽️ Amato's Woodfire Pizza – Amish-raised Chickens
- 🍽️ Choffey's Coffee – Ohio Roasted Coffee
- 🍽️ Opa Grill – Fresh cut Potatoes
- 🍽️ Vito's Wine Bar – Columbus Distilled OYO Vodka
- 🍽️ Community Market – Delaware-grown Vegetables

For a full listing of local menu offerings and vendors, see our site:
www.sustainabledelawareohio.org/localmenu2012.htm

###